

Tracsis Traffic and Data Services is a leading company in the field of transport data capture and analysis and event traffic planning.

Due to a large number of surveys and events we conduct all over the UK & Ireland, we require many casual staff. The work we offer is on a casual basis – as and when we need staff. All surveys and events are different and can range from interviewing people on the roadside, to counting people getting on and off a tram to cycling surveys.

We have a survey taking place in Central London which requires Cycle Surveyors to help collect data for an innovative survey of London. This survey will involve individuals using cycle mounted video cameras and individuals will be required to survey the streets of the capital providing valuable data to help shape the future of transport around our city. Full training will be provided prior to the survey commencing.

The survey will commence Mid May and run for an estimated 6 month period and will offer a range of flexible working patterns. The pay rate will be £12.00 per hour for all cyclists. We are looking for individuals with the following:

- Experienced road cyclist, courier or delivery rider with own bike and good level of fitness, confident in traffic and on busy roads.
- Explorer. You enjoy exploring the neighbourhoods of your city.
- Familiarity with cameras and video recording hardware.
- Confident navigator, you can easily find your location on the map.
- Avid traveller. You enjoy exploring new places.

If you feel you would be suited to this type of data collection work and would be interested in working for Tracsis Traffic and Data Services as a Casual member of staff please send in your application to tads.recruitment@tracsis.com and we will be in touch.
